NEGATIVE OXYGEN IONS PURIFY THE AIR

By releasing a large number of negative ions, it can kill harmful bacteria and viruses, remove the smell of smoke and harmful gases release formaldehyde and benzene

Negative ions can absorb suspended particles in the air (e.g. PM2.5, formaldehyde, pollen, secondhand smoke, pet hair, etc.), so that these suspended particles attract each other, become bigger and heavier, thus accelerating landing. The continuous use of 6 million/cm³ negative ion nasal and oral assistant alarm through the purifier can effectively reduce the number of suspended particles, such as forming a stealth mask. Inhale suspended dirt to avoid dirty air hazards.
